

Great minds do not think alike.

That's why the University of Nebraska offers 387 undergraduate majors, on 4 unique campuses. And why, thanks to significant public and private support, students are able to participate in challenging honors programs, conduct research alongside some of the nation's leading faculty, and attend classes in modern, "smart" facilities. And, ultimately, why more of the state's top scholars choose Nebraska over any other institution. So, while great minds may not think alike, they do agree that, in our 3rd century, Nebraska's university is preparing students to be leaders in the 21st.
